

ETPRS16: invitation to the first international TPRS-conference in Northern Europe

On Friday 7 and Saturday 8 October 2016 the TPRS Platform in the Netherlands will organize the first international conference in Northern Europe for language teachers who would like to learn more about TPRS and for language teachers who are already working with TPRS. Are you a second language teacher and interested in TPRS? We invite you to join this unique conference!

Workshops and coaching

During the ETPRS conference you can participate in several TPRS/CI workshops and coaching sessions. Furthermore you can observe lessons by TPRS teachers from all over the world to actual students from the Vathorst College in Amersfoort, The Netherlands, followed by debriefing sessions without the students. You can choose between three tracks: one for beginners, one for advanced TPRS teachers and a special track for teachers who teach Dutch as Second Language.

Renowned language expert prof. em. Stephen Krashen will close the conference on Saturday as keynote speaker.

Organization

This 2 day conference is an activity of the TPRS Platform; we are a non-profit organization by and for TPRS teachers. As a platform we organize regional national TPRS meetings and introduction workshops for language teachers and with this conference we would like to bring teachers together at an international level to increase the knowledge and skills of TPRS.
